

Multiplication Houses

from Teach Beside Me

To make these Multiplication Houses, cut the squares of each window on three sides so they open. Mount on another piece of paper. Write the answers to each math problem behind the windows. For example: if it is the house of fives, behind the 3 window you would write 15.

Use them for your kids to practice their multiplication facts. You can attach them together into book form when finished with all of them!

